June – September, 2012

POLICY

Supporting Grassroots Advocacy

Speaking Out

The MSMGF continues to work with local partners to advance the Speaking Out initiative, a technical assistance advocacy project to reduce stigma, discrimination and protect human rights of men who have sex with men (MSM) and MSM living with HIV.

Speaking Out: Honduras

MSMGF staff and Kukulcan have provided technical assistance to graduates of Speaking Out who are developing breakthrough initiatives to be considered for funding support. One breakthrough initiative focuses on advocacy for the inclusion of sexual orientation and gender identity in Honduran HIV antidiscrimination law. The second breakthrough initiative focuses on advocacy for the inclusion of lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) rights in the Honduran government's Social Protection Programs. The public policy for these programs has been under development since May and Kukulcan and Colectivo Violeta have been part of this process.

The final Spanish-language locally-adapted version of Speaking Out has been edited and approved by Kukulcan. Printed copies are available in Honduras as well electronic PDF version. The PDF will be posted online in the coming weeks.

Speaking Out: Middle East North Africa (MENA) Region

L'Association de lutte contre le sida (ALCS) hosted the second and follow-up training of trainers (TOT) in the MENA region that took place in June. The TOT hosted the same group of participants from the TOT held in October 2011 to sharpen their skills.

The final French-language regionally-adapted version of the toolkit is available in PDF format. It was distributed during the International AIDS Conference in Washington, D.C. in August 2012.

Speaking Out: Vietnam

The Vietnamese-language locally-adapted toolkit was printed by G-Link in July 2012 and ready for distribution in during the International AIDS Conference in Washington, D.C. The MSMGF will post the final PDF version of the toolkit in on its website in the coming weeks.

Speaking Out: Kenya

The MSMGF has partnered with Ishtar, an MSM-led organization in Kenya, to implement the Speaking Out initiative in Kenya. Ishtar has developed a work plan and worked with a consultant to adapt the Speaking Out toolkit to local needs and conditions, as well as to coordinate a national training on advocacy. Adaptation of the toolkit is under development, and consultations with local stakeholders are ongoing.

Speaking Out at the International AIDS Conference

The MSMGF conducted a total of three panel updates on Speaking Out, the MSMGF's Advocacy Toolkit on HIV, MSM and human rights. These updates featured lead partners from all three regional adaptations (Vietnam, Honduras, Middle East/North Africa). The sessions took place at the MSMGF Pre-Conference, at the MSMGF Networking Zone in the Global Village, and in the Global Village Session Room, respectively. MSMGF staff also hosted a networking dinner before the conference began to put all lead partners in touch with one another.

MSMGF Staff also participated in other advocacy training curricula opportunities – MSMGF Senior Staff attended the Levi-Strauss “Advocacy 2.0” training, and Senior Policy Staff took part in “Know it, prove it, change it”, an advocacy training developed by Thai Treatment Action Group and Asia Catalyst.

The MSMGF received multiple inquiries regarding the expansion of Speaking Out to other regions, most specifically to Francophone West Africa via our consultant from the MENA region, where the finalized toolkit has been finalized and published in French. Contacts from the Canadian HIV/AIDS Legal Network expressed interest in reviewing the MSMGF Policy Staff’s plans to develop a testimonial template for collecting testimony on MSM, HIV and human rights issues, having conducted a similar project with people who inject drugs, and seeking to contribute to the growing field of MSM and key populations issues.

High-Level Advocacy

Consultation on Global Fund Symposia Session

MSMGF Senior Communications and Senior Policy Staff also worked to help shape remarks made by Nadia Raffif, Executive Director of ALCS Marrakech, as the sole civil society speaker commenting on a Symposia Session entitled: “The Global Fund: The Next Five Years” alongside Global Fund General Manager Gabriel Jaramillo and U.S. Global AIDS Ambassador Eric Goosby. The remarks emphasized the critical importance of maintaining the unique demand-driven model of the fund; of maintaining civil society engagement mechanisms as the Fund goes through its transition; and of communicating changes clearly and effectively with civil society, CCMs, and recipient nations alike.

Participation in PrEP Stakeholder Meeting

On July 20, 2012, MSMGF Executive Director George Ayala and MSMGF Senior Prevention Associate Pato Hebert participated in the high-level Combination Prevention Stakeholder Meeting held in Washington, D.C. in advance of the International AIDS Conference. The gathering brought together advocates, donors/funders, policymakers, regulators, researchers and representatives from pharmaceutical companies to discuss the latest information and strategies regarding topical and systemic pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP).

Presentation at the PEPFAR MSM Asia Pacific Regional Workshop

PEPFAR conducted the second of its three regional workshops on the PEPFAR MSM Guidance in Bangkok in early September. The MSMGF has been involved as community advisory member on the workshop planning committee since the beginning of these PEPFAR workshops started in Johannesburg in April 2012. Multiple MSMGF Steering Committee members participated in this important meeting, including Don Baxter, Roman Dudnik, and Midnight Poonkasetwatanah. The MSMGF’s Director of Programs Christian Fung was a featured speaker discussing how US government rules and regulations could be used to benefit grassroots organizations worldwide.

PROGRAMS

Bridging the Gaps (BtG)

Bridging the Gaps is an international HIV program focused on health and rights for LGBT people, sex workers, and people who use drugs. Funded by the Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the program aims to create added value by focusing simultaneously on all three key populations, with 21 key population projects in 16 countries, as well as 4 global advocacy projects. The program was developed and is implemented by an alliance of 5 Dutch-based organizations, 4 global key population networks, and more than 100 local partner organizations. The MSMGF serves as both a Global Network implementer and an Alliance Partner for BtG's LGBT components – the former role focuses on alliance-building and advocacy and the latter role emphasizes technical assistance and in-country sustainability. The MSMGF is a newcomer to the LGBT technical assistance portion of the grant, taking over for Schorer, which closed its doors in March 2012. The MSMGF is currently working closely with COC, a well-respected Amsterdam-based LGBT service and advocacy organization, to take over Schorer's portfolio.

This quarter the MSMGF Programs Staff has focused on transitioning operations of the LGBT portion of the Bridging the Gaps project.

- Transfer of Budget and Program of 10 Sub-partners in 5 Countries
As the program transitions from Schorer to the MSMGF and COC, MSMGF Programs Staff has been working closely with COC to identify country-level budgets, existing commitments, and necessary programs forward. The transfer is now complete.
- Work Plan and Budget Preparation for 2013 for Bridging the Gaps
As 2012 comes to a close, the program gears up for 2013. Working in collaboration with BtG country partners, the MSMGF has completed the overall work plan for 2013, although details still have to be worked out in the 4th quarter in-country.
- 9-month Report Submission from 9/11 to 6/12 to AIDS Fonds
The first report prepared covers the period under Schorer; this report will not be submitted to the Dutch Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The next report covering 9/11 to 12/12 will be the first official report submitted to the donor.

BtG Team Building with COC in Amsterdam and Washington, D.C.

In order to continue to build closer collaboration between COC and MSMGF over the next 4 years, the two teams started working together through a series of meetings in Washington, D.C. during the International AIDS Conference. These initial meetings were followed by another 3 day meeting in Amsterdam. The result was a very successful exchange of ideas and strong relationship building, ending in concrete points of collaboration on research, division of labor in-country, technical comparative advantages, and sharing of tools and materials.

RESEARCH

Global Men's Health and Rights 2012 Survey Closes

The MSMGF closed the online portion of this year's Global Men's Health and Rights survey this quarter, with a total of 5782 participants. Launched online in Chinese, English, French, Spanish, and Russian, the survey is designed to support knowledge generation, policy development, program implementation, and advocacy linked to the issues that matter most to MSM communities around the world. Preliminary findings from the survey were presented by Dr. Sonya Arreola during a webinar on September 26, 2012. Findings show that gay men and other MSM around the world have inadequate access to HIV services, with homophobia acting as a barrier to accessing services such as condoms, lubricants, HIV testing and HIV treatment. The survey also found that country level income predicts access and acceptability to services.

Paper versions of the survey are still being implemented in ten countries across Africa in collaboration with community partners. Analysis is ongoing, and preliminary results will be available by the end of 2012.

PUBLICATIONS

MSMGF Launches “Missing Voices” Publication on Research Rejected from AIDS 2012

During the week of this summer’s International AIDS Conference (IAC), the MSMGF launched a new publication featuring more than 100 abstracts on gay men, other MSM, and transgender people that were rejected from inclusion in this year’s IAC. Entitled “Missing Voices from the Field,” the publication highlights important new findings on major resource gaps in the MSM response, the place of MSM in National AIDS Plans, and as-yet-unseen epidemiological data from around the world.

MSMGF Collaborates with Other Global Networks of Key Populations to Launch “Carr Doctrine”

Ahead of this year’s IAC, the MSMGF collaborated with the major global HIV networks dedicated to key populations – the Global Network of Sex Work Projects (NSWP); the International Network of People who Use Drugs (INPUD); the Center of Excellence for Transgender Health (CoE); Global Action for Trans* Equality (GATE); and the Global Network of People Living with HIV (GNP+) - to put forth a series of joint recommendations for a more effective global AIDS response. The recommendations were released in a set of principles entitled “The Robert Carr Doctrine,” named for the well-respected international AIDS activist who passed away one year ago. The Carr Doctrine calls on all stakeholders to re-think the global response to AIDS, urging actors to recognize that HIV is not just a public health issue, but rather a symptom of underlying societal inequities and injustices. Accordingly, the Doctrine calls for a coordinated strategy at behavioral, social, structural, and legal levels. The Robert Carr Doctrine also formed the basis of the remarks offered by Othman Mellouk, MSMGF Co-Chair, at the Robert Carr “Getting to Zero Bullshit” Memorial Lecture.

MSMGF Holds Webinars on the Current State of HIV Prevention, Treatment, and Access to Services for MSM Worldwide

This quarter the MSMGF produced a series of webinars on the current state of HIV prevention, treatment, and access to services for MSM around the world. A total of 147 advocates and service providers from 20 countries around the world participated, reporting positive feedback regarding the utility of the presentations. The MSMGF has also received numerous requests for access to the presentations by advocates who were unable to attend the webinars.

Convening Stakeholders

MSMGF Pre-Conference to the 2012 International AIDS Conference

The MSMGF organized its fifth Pre-Conference Event at the 2012 International AIDS Conference (IAC) in Washington, D.C., focused on MSM, transgender people, and HIV. To our knowledge, this was the largest global gathering of activists, researchers, implementers, and donors focused on the health and human rights of MSM and transgender people to date. Titled, “From Stigma to Strength: Strategies for MSM, Transgender People and their Allies for a Shifting AIDS Landscape,” the Pre-Conference was offered free of charge to more than 650 attendees, representing 500 organizations from over 100 countries, 50% of whom were from the global south. The MSMGF provided scholarship support to 65 participants who would not have otherwise been able to attend AIDS 2012. Plenary sessions featured simultaneous translation into French and Spanish. These sessions were also live-streamed and watched by nearly 100 advocates and stakeholders around the world who were unable to attend the event.

The MSMGF Pre-Conference provided a skills building and networking platform focused on the most recent research, best practices, and advocacy strategies to advance the overall goal of universal access to HIV-related services. The MSMGF Pre-Conference Program included three plenary presentations and 21 skills building workshops or seminar sessions focused on the changing research, programmatic, and policy landscapes in the AIDS sector and their implications for MSM and transgender people. These sessions had particular urgency given the establishment of a new United Nations Political Declaration on AIDS, the release of promising new findings in research concerning ARV-based prevention strategies (including pre-exposure prophylaxis or PrEP), the evolution of investment frameworks for the global AIDS response, and the release of the final report from the High-level Commission on HIV and the Law. Pre-Conference attendees also used the event to coordinate and refine a global MSM and HIV advocacy agenda.

Regional Consultation on Advocacy and Activism around MSM and HIV, Human Rights and Universal Access

The MSMGF partnered with Asociación para la Salud Integral y Ciudadanía de América Latina y el Caribe (ASICAL) to conduct a regional consultation on advocacy and activism around HIV, human rights, and universal access to discuss the dwindling of activism in the region and how to reenergize it. The consultation took place in Sao Paulo, Brazil during the Foro Latinoamericano in August 2012. A total of 20 MSM advocates representing community-based organizations from El Salvador, Mexico, Brazil, Chile, Argentina, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Honduras, Costa Rica, and Panama participated and provided their input to the conversation. A report and action agenda is under development.

MSMGF Pre-Conference Reception at the World Bank in Washington, D.C.

On Friday July 20th, the MSMGF co-hosted a joint welcome reception to the International AIDS Conference with the Global Network of People Living with HIV (GNP+) and the World Bank. UNAIDS Executive Director Michel Sidibe and World Bank Vice President for Human Development, Tamar Atinc presented keynote addresses that elevated the critical importance of human rights in the global HIV response among gay men and other MSM. Over months of planning, the MSMGF deepened its strong working relationship with GLOBE, the World Bank's LGBT employee network, and looks forward to future collaborations.

MSM Networking Zone at the Global Village, International AIDS Conference, August 2012

The MSMGF partnered with several regional MSM, including AMSHeR, APCOM, ASICAL, COC, PSN, China MSM Forum, NBGMAC, and the South Asian DIVA Project, as well as other stakeholders and allies to plan, coordinate, and implement the MSM networking zone. Entitled "MSM Networking Zone: Connect, Communicate, Collaborate," the zone was devoted to creating a safe and creative space for gay/MSM advocates to network, share experiences, exchange ideas, and coordinate advocacy strategies towards stronger, more inclusive HIV responses across our respective regions.

The MSM Networking Zone had an average of 300 visitors per day, from Monday July 23rd to Thursday July 26th, for an estimated 1,200 visits during the week. Visitors and attendees included MSM and transgender advocates from different regions, researchers, health educators, UNAIDS staff, people living with HIV, women, sexologists, doctors, students, and community members from the DC area.

The networking zone had three main activities: 1) photo booth where visitors took photos; digital versions of the photos were sent to their email accounts instantly and printed copies were given to visitors; 2) material display and distribution, including condoms and lubricants, policy documents on MSM and HIV, HIV prevention material and human rights documents; and 3) sessions, presentations, and workshops where participants engaged in conversations and exchanged experiences and ideas. The networking zone had a total of 18 sessions during the week. On average, each session had between 15 and 30 attendees.

Overall the networking zone was very successful. Sessions provided a wide range of topics for a wide range of communities, from MSM advocates to transgender advocates to research and policy.

MSMGF Youth Reference Group Holds First Face-to-Face Meeting

The MSMGF Youth Reference Group held its first face-to-face meeting since its inception, bringing together 16 youth advocates representing Paraguay, Guyana, Nigeria, Armenia, Kenya, Ireland, Jamaica, Peru, Lebanon, Singapore, and the United States. The meeting included a full morning of presentations on the current state of health and human rights for young MSM (YMSM) in each member's respective country and region, followed by an afternoon of strategic planning to address the needs, challenges, and opportunities identified in the morning presentations. A work plan and timeline was set for developing a draft global strategy to address these issues, which should be complete by the end of 2012.
